

The top vulnerability found was Angular being an old and vulnerable version. I am not sure if upgrading to the latest version could break the project but in some cases like UE4 → UE5 porting is required and it will not work out of the box if upgraded.

If this was a professional site it would come down to the question whether or not the company is ready to pay to upgrade to the latest version in case additional work is required.

